Praying Against the Spiritual Evil For the Children of Our Communities

Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall trouble or hardship or persecution or famine or nakedness or danger or sword? As it is written: "For your sake we face death all day long; we are considered as sheep to be slaughtered."

No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any power, neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Romans 8:35-39

Heavenly Father: it is here that we are reminded of the power and strength that is ours in our Lord Jesus Christ. Father, we are to teach our children about the love of God, we are to help them to build a strong foundation, one that is rooted and grounded in the word of God, and yet Father, as we look about us we see the fruit of our labor: and it is sour grapes and spoiled berries that present themselves to us.

Lord, how confusing it must look to our children as we talk of life one way, and live it another. To hear us complain and to grumble about the condition of the nation, of the world; for that matter and yet refuse to leave the comfort of our homes and step into the ongoing battles for the souls of our children.

Romans 8, Lord is hope; and today our children, whether the very young or as adults, Lord, they need hope!

We find today that there is a great lack of self-control, of desire to be obedient; and that being truthful is considered 'old fashioned' and that faithfulness lies under the weight of loneliness because there is no trust! One must search to find these qualities and character in others and we must dig even deeper often to find it in ourselves! Because of that open realization: there are few who are truly committed to the raising up the children in the shadow of the Lord.

The pleasures, comforts and conformation that is demanded of by the secular world today, is scooping up our children and dashing them against the rocks; leaving them broken in so many ways! How quickly they have been taught to lovingly hate in the name of equity and equality.

You say in your word that vengeance is yours, that vindication for evils done will come through you, and we believe that your word stands true, yet the concern grows for the future generations-our children's children and their children's children: for without your interceding today- they will be so far from you!

Father, remember them- each of them, Father call them out of the darkness, Father call for them to come out of the world and then show them the wonders of your love.

Lord, deliver them- from evil. In Jesus name Amen
